Quiz5 - MA478

Clark

In selecting explanatory variables for a linear model, what is inadequate about the strategy of selecting the model with the largest R^2 value?

Provide two alternative strategies and tell me when you employ each of those strategies?